

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

END THE DAKOTA CIVIL WAR

For those few of you unaware of the tragic conflict in the Dakotas (a made up term for North and South Dakota) I will write a brief summary to bring you up to date, and inform you of the sadness and death within our own country. In the late 1st century the Dakotas were settled by the Dakotese Naivete American tribe, but while the tribe was still young the two most prominent families within it began a feud that continues to this very day. The feud began when the two oldest men in each family came to blows in a bar fight allegedly over the invasion of the family which resided in the south of Dakota on the Northern families land. This small argument sparked a war between the two families, which over the years expanded into two entirely separate tribes. Up until the late 1700s this bloody conflict went on uninterrupted by outsiders, the death toll up to this point is estimated to be in the trillionmillindillionbazzillions. In the Late 1700s Europeans began to settle the Dakotas, unaware of their bloody history. In a short time the Dakotans tribes which had been at war for so long found that they had a new more dangerous enemy, the white man and his guns. For the first time in almost 2000 years the Dakotans united but to no avail the tribes were nearly wiped out in the War of the Late 1700s. With the near extinction of the Dakotans it seemed that the Dakotas were at the beginning of a new era of peace, but it was not to be. During the revolutionary war Napoleon landed at Pearl Harbor, North Dakota, leading the largest force of snail riding African Buddhist monks the world had ever seen. These frightening shock troops hit the Dakotas like a train running over a paper bag. They blazed through every settlement in the Dakotas on their giant snails burning and pillaging every thing in their path. The Dakotans settlers were so shocked to pull together a defense against these powerful warriors. In 1801 Napoleons forces finally began their final advance on Normandy, South Dakota. Believing that they were riding to another easy victory the snail riders relaxed their guard, but at Bunker Hill fort in Normandy, South Dakota the invasion ended. The remaining settlers had pulled together all of the weapons and courage they had left and finally stopped Napoleons advance. In a heroic push to free their new found homeland the settlers pushed Napoleon back to the border of North Dakota. After the victory at Bunker Hill the Settlers built a chain of forts connected by a long wall, the Great Wall of China, along the north/south border of the Dakotas. Held back by this wall there were only a few weak attacks by Napoleon. After The death of Napoleon the African snail riders settled down. It looked as if war in the Dakotas was at an end. Again though it was not to be in 1978 Ronald Regan Lead the long dormant forces in North Dakota against the South Dakotans once again. This attack ushered in the conflict in Dakota that continues to this day. For decades now the Regan dynasty has been attacking the South Dakotans, the South Dakotans have also been retaliating to these attacks in an escalating chain of violence and death. In 1994 the South Dakotans launched a nuclear missile at the capital of

North Dakota, killing Trillions, in response to this action an entire fleet of bombers equipped with atomic bombs destroyed North Dakota's cities. Even with most of their economy gone the Dakotans battle one and other, in a fight to gain a small strip of land in between the two Dakotas untouched by nuclear radiation.

END THE VIOLINCE!

Want to see your add in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Cheese, pants and the Middle East

For years Luxembourg has held a monopoly on the worlds cheese trade, its famous for its cheese pipe lines stretching the entire 45 foot length of the country, but in recent years this cheese manufacturing utopia has been the origin of a disturbing trend. Cheese distributors worldwide have raised their prices astronomically! Cheese of all kinds, from the processing plants of the U.S.A to the glorious cheese waterfalls and mountain ranges of Luxembourg and its partner Kygrsastan, is now being priced at nearly $10 a gallon. This dramatic increase in cheese price is partly attributed to the strike of the Middle Eastern pants miners who produce all of the pants for the cheese harvesters in the world. With few laborers to mine the valuable cheese resistant pants, found only in the deep gorges of the Ohio River valley, deep in the desserts of Syria, North Africa, and Iran, has lead to the valuable textiles being priced far higher. One of the miners on strike had this to say, "I have no idea what your talking about go away." With this kind of hostility towards their employers, we at the Daily Langston doubt we'll see any kind of large work force returning to the pants mines in the near future. As pants prices continue to soar, dragging with them cheese prices Luxembourg fears soon cheese will become too expensive for the average consumer. When interviewed Luxembourg Prime minister Jean Jean-Claude Junker had this to say, "The message that has come out and which is addressed to Europe and the world is that the constitution is not dead after the votes in France and the Netherlands...it is the expression of the popular will of a small state but a great nation. This vote was in every bit as important as those in France and the Netherlands". He even added an interesting comment saying that "If Luxembourg had said no, the constitution would have been dead. As Luxembourg has said yes, the process can go ahead". Clearly he is concerned as the rest of the world about the price of cheese, and the horrific rash of cabbage theft that has griped his country has not helped matters.

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue
email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Sweaters the unknown killers

Through out history there have been a few great tragedies, WWII, Chernobyl, the asteroid that wiped out the dinosaurs, the Dakota Civil War, just to name a few. However a more unknown but no less tragic event was the invention of the sweater. In 1837 in an isolated corner of Russia Yuri Islovivich encountered a heavily damaged alien spacecraft. The spacecraft was actually the last remaining relic from a dead planet, Mars. The planet had once been an glorious paradise of natural wonder and high technology, but during a disastrous war with a nameless planet that is now the asteroid belt Mars was bombarded by a kind of radiation which vaporizes all biological matter it encounters. The Martians inside were the only survivors of the destruction that befell their planet, they fled to earth in hopes of finding an environment in which they could rebuild their lost paradise. Yuri was shocked by the craft he believed it to be a sign from god and so he ventured inside, but upon entering he regretted his decision, inside the cockpit the martians had mutated into sweaters! The sweaters crawled out of the cockpit and almost instantly consumed Yuri using his corpse to reproduce, and flood the world with sweaters. Slowly spreading across the globe in all colors, shapes and sizes they began the slow methodical destruction of the human race. Today the invasion of the sweaters continues, however the sweaters have slowed their consumption of their host to avoid drawing suspicion.

Chimney Sweep Disease Strikes London

London, England, LP*: pollution in chimneys caused by excessive consumption of tea and crumpets has led to a rash of Chimney sweep deaths throughout out the UK. A local disease control official had this to say, "With our country's favorite sons (chimney sweeps) dying at an unprecedented rate the scenes so truthfully depicted in Marry Popins may soon be a thing of the past." We can only pray that this grave prediction does not become a reality, for what would London be with out hordes of dancing, singing, very dirty men dancing on roof tops on a nightly basis, certainly quieter.

*Langston Press

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue
email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Santa agent of evil*

Santa Clause, generous, jolly old soul, or ruthless agent of evil, embodiment of Satan, and right hand man to "The Man". Surely you are familiar with the myths surrounding Santa Clause (which is actually propaganda created by the government to aid his evil agenda), but what you probably don't know is that there is another deeper story than the one we are told as children. Decades ago the NSA made a deal with the devil, they agreed on behalf of "The Man" give him the soul of every man woman and child in Montana in exchange for an immortal figurehead for the public side of "The Man's" agenda. They needed some one who could control the children of the world and perhaps eventually turn all the people on the earth into his slaves! They got Santa; in fact the evidence of this transaction is in the very name of their agent Santa spells out Satan if you simply move the N! Upon receiving their new agent he was put to work immediately, setting up a massive underground factory to manufacture gifts for the children of the world, giving them to those children only if they conformed to his twisted sense of right and wrong. By bribing the children of the world millions have already bowed down to Santa's twisted agenda by placing them selves on his "nice" list. All those who don't devout them selves to serving Santa's whims and catering to his cruel idea of "good" are placed on the "naughty" list and denied presents. And while it may seem harmless to accept presents for free there is something your not being told, every toy that comes out of Santa's factory is filled with tracking devices which can monitor our every move and even our thoughts! These tracking devices inform him of who is being "naughty, or nice" and even allow him to see us when we are sleeping and know when we are awake. Santa may in fact be the single most evil thing to walk this earth, with the minor exception of Babi and the Sweaters.

Bush's Presidency**

By Esteemed Reporter Gabe Smith (who was held to the very highest of journalistic standards)

Though we all know that president George "Dubya" Bush has been fairly inept at supporting our country, new evidence shows that he may even be unaware of the fact that he is, indeed, the President of the US. I contacted him for an interview last Saturday. He had this to say:

"What? The United States of America? I thought it was the NRA!"

It is clear that while it seemed, as if he was a bit out of it, he was actually not ever informed that he "won" the election. His bizarre politics may stem from the simple fact that he thought he was president of the NRA. This explains his decisions to "kick their [the terrorist's] butts".

Emerging facts also show that Cheney is actually his golf caddy and has no political experience whatsoever, as does Bush.

Yet more current stories state that one of his daughters is an alien that he willingly took in so that it could spy on our televisions. The other one is, reportedly, made of cardboard.

*Dear Santa your really not, and I would like some chocolate in addition to all the items you have already been made aware of in my previous letter to you, thank you

**The views expressed in this paper are not necessarily those of the Langston Allston-Yeagle

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue
email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Zoo animal riot Santa implicated in plot

Paris, France LP- At midnight last night 400 elves were spotted making their way over the gates of Zoo dans le Paris, the largest zoo in France. The elves were described by several eyewitnesses as blue and under four feet tall, some wearing white hats and pants and shirtless, other witnesses referred to them as smurfish and goofy looking. After scaling the fence these blue invaders ran through the zoo opening every cage, using what appeared to be shoddily built can openers, the likes of which many receive for Christmas. After the cages were opened security cameras captured an enormous 47ft tall panda leaving the zoo looking as one Paris resident said "kinda mad". The panda, reportedly named Kingling Kongtong, went on a rampage through the city destroying countless mopeds. Kongtong destroyed almost half of Paris. His rampage ended when he apparently abducted an attractive woman from her apartment and carried her to the top of the Eiffel Tower. Atop one of the most famous landmarks in France Kingling Kongtong appeared to be an easy target for the French air force and they were immediately called in, however shockingly the only actual piece of equipment owned by the French airforce is a blimp on which advertisements for cheese are normally placed. The French reportedly debated their utter lack of a plan for almost four months, at which point Kingling simply died of starvation. Reports on the destruction are still coming in but preliminary numbers show at least 12 billion cafes were destroyed. Head zookeeper Bob Francais spoke to the Daily Langston about the incident, which will forever be persevered in the minds of the French people, he had this to say "I can neither confirm nor deny the existence of a 45ft tall Chinese panda living in our zoo." Daily Langston reporter Langston Allston-Yeagle has his own theory about the incident. "After seeing the kind of destruction a very large scary bear can unleash on a city, I took it upon my self to find out the cause of the disaster and develop a means by which to stop it from happing again. By research concludes that Santa Clause ordered his elves to free the panda, and hopefully destroy Paris. In order to stop this kind of thing from happening again I suggest all people living in the continental United States give me chocolate so that I may finish my exhaustive research on the topic." Clearly a wise man such as Langston should not be ignored and we must feed his genius so that the world may be saved from further attacks by large Chinese animals.

Weekly health advice

1. stay away from radioactive goo, it will not give you super powers
2. do not drink chunky milk
3. stand clear of the closing doors when on a subway or airport train
4. do not eat your chocolate, give it to professional health annalists Langston Allston-Yeagle, or leave it in locker 250

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Grand Theft Auto and the NSA

When the popular video game Grand Theft Auto was released few knew its true purpose. Many parents simply dismissed it as a disgustingly vulgar and culturally degrading piece of crap, but it is really much more than that. In fact Rockstar Games, the organization that makes GTA, is a front for the NSA. No members of the NSA could be reached for comment, and they refused to respond to calls through their phone taps, and emails to nowhere, which they intercepted. Fortunately, thanks an anonymous source, I was able to gain some information on the true purpose of GTA. According to my source the game is, in fact, a training device for NSA agents operating undercover. Since it is distributed through retail stores across the country the agents can purchase the game with out being traced or exposed. The game is, as far as I could tell, a simulation to educate field agents on the latest methods of obtaining necessary capital for top secret missions.

Checkoslovakia declares war on the moon

Late Saturday night Vaclav Havel, the President of Checkoslovakia was alerted of a strange object floating within their air space. His Secretary of BS News was in the room when he was notified and agreed to give his account of the developing situation. According to the Secretary of BS News the President was very decisive in his actions against the object and took necessary steps to safeguard his nation and the world.

In a press conference Mr. Havel made this statement, "I have recently been made aware that our radar has detected an object in our airspace. The object is being called the "moon", and is considered to be extremely dangerous. After repeated attempts to contact the "moon" failed we determined that it did in fact have weapons of mass destruction. Recognizing the danger such an object presented I have declared war on it." Later that night multiple large rocks were thrown at the "moon" in an attempt to soften up resistance before the ground forces land. Mr. Havel said that he would send at least 45 men to the "moon", using boats equipped with skyhooks. Senior "moon" war annalists, M.E. Dumbb, had this to say, "I doubt there will be much resistance to the take over of the" moon" in fact we should have a deceive victory in under 6 months, and we will have placed a stable democratic government on the "moon" within a year. I'm sure that residents of the "moon will welcome us after living under the oppressive rule of the oppressive ruler of the "moon".

*About 50 B.L.**

**Before Langston

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Tupac: Dead man writing?

Popular rap artist Tupac Shakur has been dead since 1996, however that hasn't stopped him from releasing 12 albums since his death. How is this possible you ask?

Clearly the recent rash cloning hoaxes haven't been hoaxes, but attempts of naive scientists to circumvent the iron hold the record industry holds over the science of cloning. We've seen it countless times, dead artist releasing records and going multi-platinum. It's happened with Elvis, Notorious B.I.G, Tupac, the Backstreet Boys, Madonna, and hundreds of others. While the rest of the world sits back and wonders how the brave reporters of the Daily Langston investigate. After exhaustive search and countless interviews, multiple kidnappings, and heartless blackmail, we managed to find the truth. An unnamed (perhaps not even real) representative of the massive capitalist music conspiracy, had this to say, "We cloned Tupac and Elvis to make money," he then fainted and was hospitalized, with a minor concussion, amnesia, and several head wounds, for "unknown reasons". With this rock hard evidence of the massive plot controlled by the shadowy organization that runs the worlds governments to gain capital for their eventual take over of the world by using clones of the worlds most popular musical artist to record new songs we at the Daily Langston continued to delve deeper into the mystery. While we could not find any more solid leads we will continue to follow the developing story.

Godzilla arrested

Tokyo, Japan, Japanese authorities arrested famous monster Godzilla in his Tokyo home early Saturday morning. According to the government Mr. Zilla had not paid his taxes in over 12 years. With his case not set to appear in court for up to 2 mouths. Godzilla will remain incarcerated until the date of his trial.

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched* *and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

**issue 8 is based on true events

Starwars: is today's hit film tomorrow's religion?

(London, UK) In early 2001 a movement tore the normally calm, patient, tea drinking, tuxedo wearing, crumpet eating, British people apart. The power of British Empire was laid to waste by the Jedi Knight religious movement. When over ten thousand practicing Jedi wrote in Jedism as their religion on the UK census form.

The Religion of Jedism is embraced heartily by some and seen as a joke by others. Practicing Jedi Obi-Wan Kenobi had this to say about the force, the foundation for Jedi theology.

"The Force is what gives a Jedi his power. It's an energy field created by all living things. It surrounds us and penetrates us. It binds the galaxy together." While this set of ideals is accepted by many, Han Solo, a septic stated "there's no mystical energy field that controls my destiny." He later Backed up his point with the following statement, "Hokey religions and ancient weapons are no substitute for a good blaster at your side." While many people are still of Mr. Solos belief the British government is not waiting to find out how far these Jedi will go, seemingly in order to prevent a holy war all 10,000 hopeful Jedi were denied official recognition as a religious group. While it is surely a noble attempt to safeguard the populace the British census office may cause more damage with the denial of Jedism as a religion. The fallout could cause any number of things, from an attempt at independence from the thirteen colonies, in the New World, to a war with France lasting 100 years.

The British Jedi however were not alone in their search for recognition, in Australia 70,000 people attempted to gain the status of governmentally recognized Jedi Knight through a similar write in campaign. Also in New Zealand 18,000 Jedi vied to become part of an official religion. This brings the world total of Jedi to about 98,000 people, or about one million more people than live in Montana and Idaho combined.

With this many members many practicing Jedi Knights many wonder why Jedism has not become a religion. Certainly its beliefs are just as viable than those of Scientology are. Another important point for Jedism is those included in its membership. An unnamed Daily Langston employee said "lets think for a minute, scientology is an official religion, but Jedism isn't, Tom Crusie is a scintologist, but Mace Windu (a.k.a. Samuel L. Jackson) is a Jedi and I think he could easily beat the $#!% out of Tom Cruise." As an employee of the Daily Langston this person clearly has more moral authority than all the people in all governments of the world combined, thus if Mr. Jackson could indeed "beat the $#!% out of Tom Cruise" shouldn't this debate over the faith of Jedism be settled in a paper view boxing match between the two actors?

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Global Warming

Experts have now confirmed that some time later the year after the one after the next global warming will reach all time highs. Some even believe that the ice caps will begin to melt. Even the most conservative estimates suggest that all of Greenland will be submerged. More realistic estimates suggest that nearly 65% Canada and all of Iceland will also be flooded. “Originally we were worried about serious loss of life if Canada was indeed flooded, however we quickly realized that no one lives in Canada, apart from exactly six Eskimos, all of which can swim,” said one expert at the Daily Langston. The real danger that global warming will present is in the thawing of the South Pole, not the obvious Flooding from the North Pole. That danger is the thawing of the icy walls of the Land of the Giants. Scientist believe that nearly 2 million giant man eating monster are imprisoned within the ice at South Pole. The monsters most likely range from massive 40 foot tall insects, to living Dinosaurs, and perhaps the famous, Giant Arctic Flesh Eating Cave Land Zombie Shark, or GAFECLZS. The GAFECLZS are reportedly 100 feet long, much larger than the ones which attacked Pearl Harbor in the 1940s, and those which caused Russia to lose the cold war in the 1950’s. The thawing of the ice caps, and the freeing of man eating monsters are not the only dangers, at Area 51 in Nevada hundreds of aliens are kept in containment chambers, if the earth does indeed heat up these aliens will wake up, and signal the rest of their fleet. Military analysts, at the Department of Defense (DOD) believe that if these aliens do successfully contact the mothership earth will be in no condition to defend it self after being ravaged by GAFECLZS.

While these problems seem pressing anti-heat strategist in Washington D.C. have suggested an answer. “We believe if bomb the ice caps enough, possibly with nuclear weapons, we can preemptively cause global warming, throwing off the evil leaders of this so called Global warming, and giving us the element of surprise,” the strategist suggested at a recent conference at the Pentagon. While this suggestion may seem perfectly reasonable, a few people seem to think it’s a bad idea. One amateur global warming enthusiast said “you guys please listen these people are really stupid don’t do this.” This mans sanity is still under review.

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu

The daily Langston*

*An entirely un-researched and pointless news letter on the inaccurate views of Langston Allston-Yeagle

Cutting Edge crimes Stress related crimes ravage the subbie class

University Laboratory High School (L.P.), Many students are aware of the incarnation of pure evil, often referred to as Cutting Edge, however few are aware of the situations that have brought the humanity of this terrible project into review. Recently a terrible reign of rampant crime has gripped the Subbie class. Nearly 12 students have been found dead, in and around the science room, and at their home computers. While 3 cases are most likely murder, 6 others are confirmed suicide, and the rest are still under investigation. The murderers most likely committed their crimes do to heightened stress levels. These stress levels have been caused, by many factors ranging from 13-400 page papers being due after only a weeks notice, as well as unclear comments, and overly picky requirements formatting. Chief investigator Notsgnal Elgaey-Notslla had this to say regarding the deaths, “while we are unsure of the exact cause of the deaths we believe that many of them happened when Cutting Edge related stress levels reached a boiling point and normally docile Subbies turned on one and other.” The first murder, while still under investigation, is believed to have been caused by a Mr. Daniel Kitron. Police believe that Mr. Kitron snapped under the stress of deadlines, and grades, some time during 4th period. He then allegedly first yelled at, then whipped, with a wet noodle, a Mrs. Sindha Agha. Sindha’s body was found in the third floor hallway, covered in deep welts caused by severe noodle whipping. A service will be held for Sindha later this week. The second murder is still under heavy investigation, however the victim and cause of death were released to the press. A subfreshman known only as Arnof was found dead near the rear entrance of Uni High. He was most likely impaled on the bushes outside the school. Arnof was killed by an unknown person, when his insistent laughter, added to cutting edge related stress. While the murders have indeed been serious more have been killed in suspected suicide. Many Subbies have been found dead or dying at their computers, with their Cutting Edge Papers displayed, unfinished on the screen. These deaths, which were clearly a direct result of Cutting Edge papers, have brought into review the humanity of assigning students such long papers. FBI spokes person John A. Doe said this about the Cutting Edge papers, “we’ve been afraid that something like this would happen for years, and now it has.” These crimes have been so awful that President Bush scheduled a press conference for later this week to review this matter. Whatever the Presidents stance on the issue of long essays, we at the Daily Langston will remain firmly opposed to the very idea of a school paper exceeding 10 pages, and we intend to lobby for a law that prevents such evil papers from being assigned.

Want to see your ad in the daily Langston, write for us or suggest a topic for the next issue email Langston at allstony@uni.uiuc.edu